London, June 2.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 4.

Rome, May 16.

ON Wednesday last the Electoral Prince of Bavaria arrived here from Naples; and Yesterday the Secretary of the Consistorial Assembly waited upon him, to intimate to him in the Pope's Name, that the Election of his Brother Prince Clement of Bavaria, to the Bishoprick of Ratisbon, is confirmed by his Holiness.

From the Hague Cour. Jun. 3. and Amst. Cour. Jun. 6.

Vienna, May 23. On Thursday last being Ascension-Day, the Reigning Empress with great Solemnity and State, went to Church, being accompanied by the Emperour, the Ambassadors of France and Venice, and all the Grandees of the Court, richly attired. When she came to the Augustine's Church, she walked between the Emperour and the Count de Cardona, Lord High-Steward, having the young Archduke her Son in her Arms, to the Chapel of our Lady of Loretto, where she made the usual Offerings on the Altar; after which, a Mass was Sung to Musick, by the New Bishop of this City, the Count de Collonitz, and the Blessing upon the Emperour, Empress, and young Archduke was given. There were so great an Affluence of Nobility and Gentry to kiss her Majesty's Hand upon this Occasion, that the Emperour was forced to deny that Favour to any but of the first Rank, to avoid the Fatigue her Majesty would apparently been put to. The same Day in the Afternoon, the Deputies of the States of the Lower Austria, had Audience of their Imperial and Royal Majesties, and made the usual Present of 5000 Ducats. There is an Express arrived from General Löffelholz, Governour of Peterwaradin, with Advice that the Imperial Courier was not on the 15th Instant yet come thither from Turkey: But that in the mean time the said General had taken Possession of the Turkish Pass Mitrowitz, and has posted some hundreds of Men there, where the Turks by Connivance only have kept 20 Men, which they cannot take for a Breach of the Peace, since by the Treaty of Carlowitz, that Post is given to the Emperour. Prince Eugene proposes to be with the Army by the 6th of June. They write from Buda of the 19th, that by the Rains that have fallen of late, the Grass is well sprung up, and that the Troops are preparing to take the Field. They have received a good Sum of Money for the Repair of the Fortifications of that Place and Segedin, as also for erecting an Hospital at Pest. Count Staremberg is gone Post to Transylvania, to put himself at the Head of the Regiment of Tollet, which the Emperour has given him.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 6.

Warsaw, May 22. On the 15th Instant some Deputies of the Body of Confederates, under General Grudzinski, came hither to treat of the Exchange of some Polish Noblemen taken Prisoners at Sendomin, against some Saxon Prisoners that are in their Hands. These Deputies were received with great Civility by Count Wackerbart, the Saxon General; and on the 19th they returned back again. We are now confidently assured, that the Saxons will be sent out of Poland the next Month, except 1500 Men, which the King keeps for his Life-Guard: And that a Treaty will commence the 25th Instant at Lublin, between the Plenipotentiaries of the King and the Republic; and that even Orders are already sent to General Milekau, to march with his Troops to Saxony.

Guzna, May 20. The City of Posnania is more and more shut up by the Confederates that are commanded by M. Guyadowsky; but they will attempt nothing against it till after the 25th, on which Day the Polish Nobility hold an Assembly at Koscian, 3 Mile from Posnania. In the mean time the Governour of the City publicly declares, that if they put him to Distress, he will not only burn the Archives that are placed there, but will even sacrifice the Sons of the Nobility that are Students in that University: But this has only the more imbibtered the Nobility against him.

Hamburg, June 2. On Saturday Morning the Czar of Muscovy came hither from the Garden-House where he lodged, and tarried two Hours at the House of his Resident, where he dined. In the Afternoon his Majesty went to Ottenfen, near Altena upon the Elbe, and remains there in the Garden-House of the late Princess of East-Friseland, where 40 or 50 Curassiers of the Regiment of Dewitz are placed for his Life-Guard. The same Afternoon the King of Denmark came thither also, to make his Majesty a Visit; he did not then ride through this City, but went round about, and was saluted by the Cannon on the Outworks; but at Night he came through our City, and was again saluted by the Cannon on the Walls, in returning to his Lodgings at Horn. On Sunday the Czar sailed upon the Elbe in a small Yacht, and as his Majesty passed by the City, he was saluted by our Cannon: He landed at the Uytflager Road, and went to the King of Denmark, and having tarried there two Hours, went back to Altena. His Czarian Majesty desired to see an Opera here this Day, which not being used to be played in the Whitsun-Holydays, the Council were fain to assemble to give Leave for it, and accordingly he came to it in the Afternoon, and after he had staid there a little While, went out and passed to the King of Denmark's Lodging, supposed to fetch his Danish Majesty, but it seems he had no Inclination to it, for he came back without him, and staid out the Opera, after which he returned to his Lodging. 'Tis said the Czar will go to Morrow to Pyrmont, Horses being laid to that Purpose through the Duchy of Lunenburg. We have just now received Advice that the King of Denmark is gone to Gottorp, and will pass forward to Copenhagen. Two Days hence, several Seamen that are hired here for the Czar's Service, will be sent to Rosstock, and be distributed upon the Russian Ships that are there expected. According to Letters from Copenhagen of the 26th Instant, they have received confirmed Advices from Norway, that the Swedes do more and more retreat from that Country, and that 1800 Swedish Prisoners that have been taken there, are sent over to Flastrand. And further, that Vice-Admiral Gabel, by reason of the contrary Winds, could not get back to Copenhagen, but that Rear-Admiral Kaas with his Squadron, is arrived there. We hear nothing of the Swedish Fleet, which makes us believe that they are returned back to Carelskroon.

Dusseldorp, June 2. The Elector Palatine is very ill, especially a-Nights: And last Night he was so very bad that they thought he would have died, but his Highness is now somewhat better. Several

Physicians

Physicians are sent for from Heidelberg and Aix la Chapelle, to assist with their Advices for the Recovery of his Health. The Regiment of Dragoons of Count Vehlen is suddenly come from Berg to this Place, and another Regiment is soon expected: But to what end is not yet known.

London, June 2.

The Right Reverend the Lord-Bishop of London having summoned the Clergy of the Cities of London and Westminster to meet him Yesterday at the Chapter-House of St. Paul's, they came thither accordingly, and agreed upon an Address to the King, to Congratulate his Majesty upon the happy suppression of the late Rebellion.
